Coring Systems with Danny, Jim & Dick

Danny & Wood Cut System ($290+) used a piece of dry mulberry, not a good choice as bowl coring is usually done on wet wood. This wood bound up a lot and the blank came loose of the chuck each time. This system has a fixed radius with multiple radius cutters (pay for extra radius). Set it up it the center line and it will draw itself into the wood. Hold it back and loosen the lathe belt so it slips and not bind up & burn. The center is waste wood – Save it for fire wood.

Jim & Oneway System ($300+) used a wet piece of cherry held into a Stronghold chuck. Another fixed radius system but with more play than the Woodcut. It has 4 different radius cutters, (you pay for each radius) but the tips come off for sharpening. This system comes with its own tool rest and following finger for more support. Cutters are negative rake which makes smooth cuts in end grain. Jim removes the tenon before drying as they tend to crack.

Dick & McNaughton System ($290+) used wet maple and a Triton chuck. This system allows the turners to change the shape of the cores a bit (can't on fixed radius systems, pay for different radius). Dick said throw out the printed instructions and get the DVD. He likes to put a tenon on each end for lining up the cut for another tenon later.

Shows Coming Out Of VA:

April 27-29: Southern States Woodturning Symposium, Gainesville, GA

June 8 -12: AAW Symposium, San Jose', CA

Shows Coming In VA:

April: Arts in the Park, Richmond

May: Turning Competition, Woodcraft, Richmond

Sept 15-16: VA Turners Symposium, Fishersville

Sept 14-16: Field Days of the Past, Goochland

Pen Turners: Next meeting will be March 8. Bring an unfinished, turned sanded pen blank as we will be discussing finishes beyond friction polish.

[Demo] Setup the tool rest a hair higher than center, use the tail stock as long as possible. Hold on and don't let the tip drop below center. Open up the cut so the shavings can get out; an air hose can help out here. This system has a negative rake cutter.

As Tenons, remounted with all new toys there is a learning curve; while at the bottom of it these systems can and will find everything you can possibly do wrong. Wear your safety equipment.

Safety First,

Breath Clean Air

Need 2 folks to man the AV system: setup & take down each meeting. More will be trained later. The month has been added to snack list. Lee has offered to cover the meeting for me this month. Grand baby needs me for most of March. See you in April.

Meeting Vibrations

Matt, our demonstrator, is active duty military based in Chesapeake and a committed part-time woodturner since 2006. Of significant interest to him are the challenges of functional repetitive turning and tool making. Although steadfast in his own approach to woodturning, two gentlemen in particular have influenced his turning philosophy with their own unique, but contrasting approaches. Myron Curtis' and Richard Raffan's methodologies share common threads with his notion of style. Consequently, Matt suspect his style is laced with the nuances of Myron's and Richard's proven techniques - thank you gentlemen for sharing your knowledge with all of us woodturners! He believe everyone that turns should have a voice in defining woodturning and that the greatest strength of the community is its ability to share information. Matt maintain a web site and blog at www.tri-colorturners.com.
