Bottle Stoppers & Jig with Lee Scarbrough

Thanks to Herb Walker for the photos this month. There are lots of bottle stopper bottoms out there. Woodcraft sells 3 kinds from $6.00 to $0.40 each. Check them out before buying. More profit with the cheap cork, but yuppies might prefer for the stainless steel price. Know your customer's price range. First you need a bottle stopper jig. Chuck up a block of dry hard wood and turn it to a true cylinder (3 inches diameter X 2.5 inches long). Turn a 3/8 inch tenon on one end. Place in a 4-jaw chuck and drill a 3/8 inch thru the center. Remove the cylinder and thread a 3/8 inch hex bolt through the tenon side until 5/8 inch protrudes. Remove the bolt, add CA glue to the threads and replace the bolt. Return to the 4-jaw chuck and turn a shoulder the size of your stopper bottoms. Mark one jaw so the jig may be put into the jaws in the same place each time. Your jig is ready.

Drill the bottler stopper blank with a 23/64 drill bit to a depth of 3/4 inch. Mount the blank onto the jig and turn. Cut-offs are great for this. If softer woods are turned, use a smaller bit and CA glue to hole the threads. Lee sands to 400 grit and used a heavy coat Mylands High Built Friction Polish right on the lathe. He hand turns the lathe while applying the polish, lets it dry then adds a light coat of polish later. The bottle stopper is buffed with a clean rag. Get creative. Make them tall, short, fat or look like Lee. Bring them in for the next meeting.

Presidential Vibrations

Hello Mike,

If your chapter would be interested in being involved with this, please Dave. I was involved some years ago with making one of the sections and it was a blast. Your imagination is your only limit.

Just touching base with you about our conversation this morning concerning the Arrowmont totem poles.

The Dem. Are 20inch diam. X 24inch high with a 3 inch hole that will fit over a 3 inch pipe the hole could be 31/2or 31/4. We need two more to complete our second pole. Any help you can give us will be great. [Continued page2]

As the producer of Woodturning Workshop, we at RSU Public Television are pleased to offer our first season at a special discounted price to woodturning and woodworking clubs for their library. All 26 episodes of Woodturning Workshop may be purchased for the low price of only $260, plus $10 for shipping and handling. RSU Public Television is non-profit and shares WTW with public television stations throughout the country without charge. Sales of the DVDs are used to recoup some of the costs of producing WTW so we can continue producing new episodes. Currently 13 new episodes are in production, all shot in high definition, which we hope to make available for broadcast and purchase in 2008. The host of WTW, Tim Yoder, has been woodturning for more than a decade, and was named the 2004 "Woodturner of the Year" by the Northeastern Oklahoma Woodturners Association. With more than 25 years experience as a television photojournalist and producer, including over 15 years at RSU-TV, Yoder is no stranger to the television broadcast business. He has been nominated twice for regional Emmys, local television's highest award of achievement. Tim is currently a producer and director of photography at RSU-TV, as well as the host of WTW.

Bob Rosand November 3rd Demo This is an advance heads-up on a great demo. We have Bob Rosand scheduled to do a day long demo (probably 4-6 hours). The demo is scheduled for Saturday, November 3rd, and will be held at our regular club meeting place, the Crimora Community Center. Crimora is about 10 miles north of Waynesboro just off of Route 340, not too far from Interstate 81 (about 6 miles East of I81) and I64 (about 7 miles North of I64).

At this time, we tentatively plan a $20 fee that will include lunch, but this is not completely firm (it will not be more than $25 per person). I wanted to get the word out for planning purposes, but we are not firm on what the cost will be to the club, etc.

Further updates will be out as soon as possible to let you make your plans.

Bob is a very noted turner and demonstrator, so don't miss this one.
